—Critics See Bid For Second Term—

VETO OF GAS BILL TAGGED 'POLITICS'

Ross Quits; Early Link In Neff Case ... To Avoid 'Unwarranted Criticism'

OMAHA (AP)—Donald R. Ross quit his post as U. S. District Attorney in Nebraska Friday rather than risk bringing "unwarranted criticism" on the Justice Department in connection with the Neff case. The resignation was effective immediately.

Ross, a former mayor of Lexington, Neb., is a long-time friend of John M. Neff, the Lexington attorney.

DONALD ROSS RESIGNS ... "violated no law" ney whose offer of a $2,500 campaign contribution to Sen. Case (R-SD) during Senate consideration of the natural gas bill touched off a Senate inquiry.

President Eisenhower vetoed the bill Friday, citing "questionable activities" on the part of a small segment of the gas industry as his reason.

Arranged Interview
Ross reportedly arranged an interview for Neff with Nebraska Republicans Hruska and Curtis. They said Neff urged them to vote for the natural gas bill but there was nothing "unbecoming" in Neff's conduct.

Ross was called to Washington when it was learned that he had obtained appointments for Neff with the Nebraska senators. But Neff said Ross had no other connection with the case and knew nothing of his proffered contribution to Sen. Case.

'Nothing Dishonorable'
Ross took note of "some speculation concerning my relations with John Neff" and said that the Justice Department agreed "that I have violated no law and that I have done nothing dishonorable."

"However, because of the possibility that my connection with the matter may tend to bring unwarranted criticism upon the Department of Justice, especially if they develop a case for the prosecution of Mr. Neff, I have decided it would be best for me to resign, even though such resignation has not been requested," Ross said in a prepared statement.

He declined to discuss the Neff case, but reiterated he made a full report to the Department of Justice. He had just returned from eight days of conferences with Justice Department officials in Washington.

Ross, 34, was appointed to the post 2½ years ago. He said he will return to private law practice, but had not announced specific plans. Harry Shackelford, who has been Chief Assistant District Attorney, will act as chief until a new appointment is made, officials said.

Lincoln Federal Officials Regret Ross' Resignation
Assistant U.S. District Attorney Dean W. Wallace, in charge of the Lincoln U.S. Attorney's office, said Friday "I'm sincerely sorry to learn of Mr. Ross' resignation. He has done an outstanding job."

U.S. District Judge John W. Delehant commented: "I regret exceedingly that Mr. Ross has considered it desirable that he should resign. He has been a public official of outstanding ability, industry and integrity. His work in the office of U.S. attorney has consistently reflected high credit upon him."

Law Not Violated In Letter, Spirit Hruska Claims
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Roman Hruska confirmed Friday that U. S. District Atty. Donald Ross of Omaha had arranged for him to meet with Lexington, Neb., Attorney John Neff, but declared, "From what I know Mr. Ross violated neither the letter nor the spirit of any law."

Hruska said the "incidental contact" of Ross arranged the meeting with Neff "certainly was not out of the way in any respect. I talk with hundreds of people."

The Republican senator from Nebraska added that Neff "lost interest in me in a hurry when he learned my stand on the bill."

Hruska voted for the measure, as did Sen. Carl Curtis (R-Neb.). Hruska said it was "regrettable" and he lauded the "high-mindedness" he said Ross' resignation statement indicated.

Curtis also expressed regret that Ross resigned.

"I hate to see Mr. Ross leave the public service," he said. "He's a fine man and established an excellent record as U. S. attorney."

'NO' BY IKE IS STERN

'ARROGANCE' OF BACKERS OF MEASURE HIT

WASHINGTON (AP)—The natural gas bill died suddenly Friday—killed by a wad of $100 bills and a presidential veto.

With a slap at the "arrogance" and "highly questionable activities" of some supporters of the legislation, President Eisenhower refused to sign it into law.

He said he agreed with the basic objectives of the bill, which would exempt natural gas producers from direct federal regulation. But he said that to put his signature on it now would "risk creating doubt among the American people concerning the integrity of governmental processes."

The President left no doubt that he was referring to the $2,500 campaign contribution—25 $100 bills in an envelope—offered to Sen. Case (R-SD) a few weeks before the Senate voted on the controversial legislation.

Case refused the donation, and in Text of the President's veto message is on Page 14.

a subsequent investigation a special Senate committee traced the money to oil and gas interests favoring passage of the bill. The committee is now trying to decide whether or not the contribution was offered in an attempt to influence Case's vote.

Boomeranged
But at any rate it was clear that the $2,500 proffered by ardent supporters of the bill had boomeranged and dealt a death blow to the measure, in its present form at least. Nobody had any belief that Congress would override the veto.

The bill had split party lines wide open in its passage through Congress. On the final Senate tally 31 Republicans and 22 Democrats voted for it, with 14 Republicans and 24 Democrats opposed. That "The odd thing is," he told himself, "that when I looked into that Baby's eyes, I seemed to have known Him all my life. You don't feel that way with most babies. But He—He wasn't a stranger!"

Then Joseph stopped for a minute in his walking.

Jig Of Jubilation

made the vote 53-38, well short of the two-thirds majority needed to override a veto. The House vote was closer, 209-203.

Eisenhower's veto message was drafted at his vacation headquarters near Thomasville, Ga., and delivered to the House, where the legislation originated last year. It hit Congress with a thump.

Senators who fought the bill, on the ground that it would add millions of dollars to consumers' gas bills, made no attempt to conceal their elation. "I'm dancing a jig," crowed Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.).

Eisenhower told Congress that since passage of the bill "a body of evidence has accumulated indicating that private persons, apparently representing only a very small segment of a great and vital industry, have been seeking to further their own interests by highly questionable activities."

"These," the President went on, "include efforts I deem to be so arrogant and so much in defiance of acceptable standards of propriety as to risk creating doubt among the American people concerning the integrity of governmental processes."

Supporters Of Measure Bitter

NO TALK OF MOVE TO OVERRIDE, BUT POLITICAL FIREWORKS POPPING ON ALL SIDES

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's veto of the natural gas bill was hotly criticized as "political" Friday by some congress members who viewed it as a second term bid by the President.

On the other hand, opponents of the measure to exempt natural gas producers from direct federal controls hailed the President's action as a "great public service."

There is no talk of any attempt to override the veto. The consensus on both sides was that the bill is dead for this session—but the political consequences will be exploding in all directions.

Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California took sharp issue with Eisenhower's veto, saying he had urged the President to sign the bill "and I still think it should have been signed."

Takes 'Full Share'

Knowland, who has indicated he will seek the Republican presidential nomination if Eisenhower does not run, said he took "full share of the responsibility" for bringing the bill up in the Senate. He said he supported the bill because he thought it was "sound" and "in conformity with the policies of this administration."

Comment on and off the Senate and House floors was unusually bitter in some instances and exuberant in others.

Sen. Kerr (D-Okla.), a supporter of the bill and author of a similar measure vetoed by former President Truman in 1950, described Eisenhower's message as "100 per cent political buncombe."

"I think if he lives, this is his announcement for re-election," Kerr said, adding: "It was a political veto by one seeking to promote his own political welfare..."

Others Echo Theme

The second term theme was echoed by many other Democrats. Even Sen. Clements (D-Ky.), who welcomed the veto, called Eisenhower's message "an amazing political document."

Clements, the acting Democratic leader, said:

"The President's statement indicates criticism of the Senate in passing the bill while the investigation of the Case incident was under way. It should be pointed out that this is a criticism of his own Republican Party, for 31 Republican senators and only 22 Democratic senators voted for the bill, while 24 Democrats and only 14 Republicans voted against it."

"The Case incident" was the attempt by an oil company attorney to contribute $2,500 to the political funds of Sen. Case (R-SD). Case rejected the donation and voted against the bill.

Commenting in Philip, S. D., Case said it was interesting that "the logic which led the President to his conclusion was somewhat similar to that which led me to my position on the bill."

Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.), who sponsored the bill in the Senate, said Eisenhower "has confused two different matters" in failing, as Fulbright put it, to distinguish between the merits of the bill itself and any "questionable activities" in its behalf.

Fulbright told the Senate this might lead "irresponsible persons" to try to block important legislation in the future through similar methods.

"What is so difficult to reconcile," Fulbright said, is that the bill passed by Congress "substantially" conforms to the recommendations of the President's own cabinet committee on fuels and of the Federal Power Commission.

Reed said there was no spot for helicopters to land near the wreckage, about a mile and a half up Niles Canyon Road and the same distance from the town of Decoto.

Nevertheless, helicopters from the aircraft carrier Oriskany took off for the scene. A group party of Marines was sent from Alameda Naval Air Station, to base its rescue operations from the Masonic Home at Decoto.

The four-engine plane was carrying 33 Marines and five Marine crewman from Ft. Toro Marine Base in Southern California to the Alameda Naval Air Station on San Francisco Bay.

The public information officer at Camp Pendleton said 32 of the plane's passengers were from Camp Pendleton and one from El Toro, as were the five crew members. The passengers all were being transferred to new stations.

He said names would be withheld pending notification of next of kin. He added that might be "some job," inasmuch as most of those being transferred had their personal records with them and reports of the crash indicated the records probably all were destroyed.

The Marine plane was an RD5, the Navy equivalent of a DC4. Its passengers were all dressed in dungarees.

Friday's crash was the second military plane disaster in the area within 24 hours. Thursday a B-25 jet bomber exploded and fell in flaming pieces less than 30 miles east of Niles. Four officers were killed or missing. Four other airmen escaped.

Tri-County Plans For Plant OKd
Lexington Project Gets Green Light
COLUMBUS, Neb.—Construction of a 100,000 kilowatt power plant near Lexington by the Tri-County Public Power District was approved Friday by 20 Nebraska Rural Public Power Districts.

The rural district representatives met here with 21 of the 27 served by the Nebraska Public Power System in attendance. Officials of the missing six were believed held at home by bad roads.

After the plans and purpose of the Lexington plant were explained representatives of 20 of the 21 districts present voted in favor of a resolution approving the plant and recommending that the national Rural Electrification Administration be requested to buy at least one-third of the bonds to be issued for the plant.

The estimated cost of the plant is $17,000,000. The Nebraska Public Power District would buy all the power produced at Lexington. Dewey DeBoer, executive director of NPPS, said the action clears the way for construction to begin. Details of the power purchase contract and bond issue will be whipped into shape shortly, he said.

The 20 districts approving were: Burt, Cornhusker, Cedar-Knox, Cumming, Butler, Norris, York, Dawson, Eastern, Elkhorn, Niobrara, Howard-Greeley, Northeast, North-Central, Polk, Seward, South-Central, Stanton, Wayne and South-ern.

The vote against came from the Custer district and was cast by John Clemens. Clemens is executive secretary of the Nebraska Rural Electric Assn.

El Toro Craft Carries Pendleton Servicemen To Fiery Death In California Hills

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—A Marine Corps plane carrying 38 Marines crashed and burned in the southern Alameda County hills Friday, only nine minutes from its destination at Alameda Naval Air Station.

El Toro Marine Air Station, where the flight originated, announced there were no survivors.

The wreckage was still burning when discovered by Russ Reed, Oakland Tribune photographer, and his pilot. It lay on a 45 degree slope in a tight box canyon near Niles, 21 miles southeast of Oakland.

A ground party, including several Navy doctors from Oak Knoll Naval Hospital, reached the scene north of Niles Canyon at 5:25 p.m. There were no survivors.

Because of the rugged terrain and dense brush it may be several days before a road can be bulldozed into the area to remove the bodies, members of the party said.

At El Toro Marine base, a spokesman said the pilot was Maj. Alexander Watson, 33, whose widow, Elizabeth, lives at Santa Ana, adjoining the base. They had one child, Susan, 5.

Austerity Clamp Tightened Again

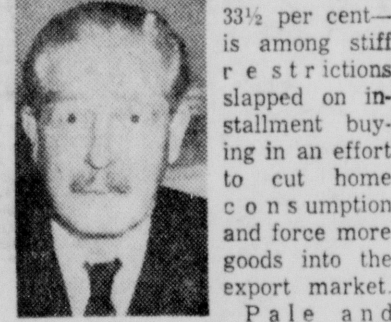

Bread To Cost More In Britain

TV Buyers Must Pay 50 Pct. Down

LONDON (AP)—Britons will have to pay 50 per cent down on television sets under austerity measures announced by the government Friday to combat inflation.

Bread and milk will cost more. Government spending is being cut 300 million dollars.

The order for half cash on the barrelhead for TV sets—up from the old rate of 33 1/2 per cent—is among stiff restrictions slapped on installment buying in an effort to cut home consumption and force more goods into the export market.

Macmillan, Chancellor of the Exchequer, announced the conservative government's measures to the House of Commons. He called on all Britons to join the battle against inflation. Laborites shouted "Resign!" and "Let's have an election."

The London stock market closed on an uncertain note. Traders on the whole felt the dose of austerity was not as severe as they had feared.

But Macmillan's action will have an impact on the living standards and costs of almost every household in the land.

He reduced the government subsidies on both bread and milk. Beginning Feb. 26, bread will go up a penny a loaf to 8 1/2 pence—about 10 cents. Milk will go up a half penny a pint to 7 1/2 pence July 1.

This is political dynamite. Laborites muttered that Macmillan was putting an intolerable burden on the nation's poorer families.

Minimum down payments on installment buying were increased on everything from baby carriages to a wide range of capital goods. The down payment on articles such as lawn mowers, bath fixtures, luggage, furniture and lamps were ordered boosted from 15 to 20 per cent.

SENATE VOTES $50,000 FOR GORE PROBES

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate voted $50,000 Friday for the Gore subcommittee which is planning a broad investigation into any efforts by "selfish interests" to influence elections or legislation improperly.

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.), will look into the gas bill fight among other things.

The money resolution approved without debate or objection Friday was proposed before Gore announced plans for the special investigation. It was designed to finance the subcommittee's regular function of policing federal elections.

Gore said the subcommittee would submit later a special request for funds to finance its special investigation, but he said the $50,000 would be available for the initial phase of the inquiry. He said the subcommittee also had about $14,000 left over from previous appropriations on which it could draw.

The clinic will serve the children of Lancaster, Gage, Seward, Cass, Saunders and Saline counties. Any parents with eligible children are urged to enroll them in the clinic, which will be held at the Braille Club.

Parents of the children will meet the last day and are expected to form a chapter of Nebraska Parents of Blind Children.

Student, 18, Is Found Under Ice

MIT Frat Hazing Leads To Death

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—The body of Thomas L. Clark, 18, MIT freshman who stepped out of an automobile on a lonely, dark road just a week ago in a fraternity initiation, was found about a quarter of a mile away under the ice of Cambridge Reservoir Friday by skin divers.

Three divers of a team of seven that had worked throughout the day in subfreezing temperatures were making a final descent for the day when they saw the body. It had floated up in 25 feet of water just under the ice in nearby Waltham.

Part of the reservoir is open but large sections of it are covered with ice. It was believed the youth—unfamiliar with the area—was heading toward a main highway when he met death.

His father, Alfred R. Clark, Harvey, Ill., telephone executive, was not at the scene. He remained at the state police barracks in nearby Concord, virtually convinced his son had perished.

When he identified one buckskin shoe found on the ice Thursday he expressed the feeling his son had drowned.

The boy was a pledge of Delta Kappa Epsilon.

The elder Clark had branded fraternity initiation stunts as "criminal" and MIT President James R. Killian Jr., issued a statement after the body was found saying excesses associated with hazing will be eliminated.

Dr. Killian said young Clark's fraternity mates were "completely innocent of any conscious negligence." He added that they too were victims of "long-practiced traditions and procedures which it is now clear cannot be condoned in this institution or any other in dormitories or fraternities."

Timber Grab Case 'Political' Effort To Mislead Public

BALTIMORE (AP)—Interior Secretary McKay said Friday night that "for political purposes" an effort has been made to mislead the public about the department's handling of the Al Sarena case.

"Despite all the talk of 'give-away,'" McKay said, "any objective examination of the record reveals nothing. I am convinced, to substantiate the charges."

He added, in a speech prepared for the Maryland Press Assn.: "Those conducting this campaign succeeded in creating a minor furor before the true story was reported to the public by the responsible press which diligently set forth the facts as they were uncovered by the joint congressional committee which held hearings on the matter."

Benedictine Monk May Hold Key In Margaret Rumor

VATICAN CITY (INS)—A high Vatican source indicated Friday night that a Benedictine monk in London may hold the key to rumors that Britain's Princess Margaret planned to leave the Church of England and become a Roman Catholic.

The source said the 25-year-old princess sought the advice and counsel of the British monk last year while she was trying to make up her mind about marrying Group Capt. Peter Townsend, and has continued seeing the monk.

The informant said this may explain how the rumor of Margaret's possible conversion got started.

The monk was not identified.

Thinking

The Vatican official admitted that Margaret's interest in the opinion of the Catholic Church in connection with her dramatic romance with the RAF hero might indicate she had been thinking about conversion.

Margaret decided not to marry Townsend, a divorced commoner, after the story of her romance shook Britain. The Church of England, which Margaret's sister, the queen, is sworn to defend, opposes the remarriage of divorced persons.

Another high Vatican official said that Viscount Montgomery was "more likely" to become a Roman Catholic than Margaret, because, it was said, he was known to have been contemplating such a step for several years.

New Snowstorms Bring Fresh Misery To Shivering Europe

... CROP DAMAGE TOTALS HUNDREDS OF MILLIONS

LONDON (AP)—Fresh snowstorms Friday night heaped new misery on Europe, ice-locked in a relentless three-week cold wave which already has claimed 616 lives.

Damage to crops ran into hundreds of millions of dollars. Fuel shortages grew Yugoslav army artillery shelled ice barriers massed on the Morava River in eastern Serbia in an effort to ease flooding.

Known deaths attributed to the 20th Century's worst freezeup: France 147, Turkey 72, Italy 74,

Yugoslavia 67, Britain 50, Denmark 33, Greece 30, Germany 30, Austria 19, Holland 23, Portugal 17, Spain 19, Switzerland 12, Belgium 10, Sweden 6, Poland 4, Norway 3. The cold extended south to Africa where five additional deaths were counted—three in Spanish Morocco and two in Libya.

Snow fell over London, East Anglia and southeast England and the forecast was "very much colder weather." Rugby games were called off.

Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh just returned from the tropical sun of humid Nigeria, drove through a snow storm to Windsor Castle with their two children.

Records showed Italy's 16-day cold wave was the worst since 1845. The U. S. Embassy announced a $50,000 American Red Cross donation to help Italian cold victims. The U. S. Air Force wound up its airlift from Germany across the Alps to Italy after delivering more than 700,000 pounds of supplies for Italian storm victims. Pope Pius XII gave a special blessing to Americans who worked on the airlift.

Case And Neff Face To Face Just One Time

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Francis Case (R-S.D.) and John M. Neff, Lexington, Neb., lawyer-lobbyist for the Superior Oil Co., met face to face once during a special Senate committee's investigation of a $2,500 contribution Neff offered for Case's re-election campaign.

As Miss Opal Van Horn, Case's legislative assistant, recounted the meeting Friday, she and the Senator were on their way to the committee's hearing last Monday when they encountered Neff in a capitol corridor.

She said that Case, suddenly finding himself face to face with Neff, said good morning and added something to the effect that he was sorry they had to meet for the first time under such circumstances.

Miss Van Horn said Case also told Neff that he appreciated the forthright testimony Neff had given the committee. She said she was not sure whether the two men shook hands.

Case himself is on a speaking tour in South Dakota.

AF Grounds All B-52 Bombers In Crash Probe

TRACY, Calif. (AP)—The Air Force Friday grounded all of its sweeping Intercontinental B-52 jet bombers and began an intensive investigation of the high altitude explosion of one near here Thursday.

The multi-million dollar strato-bomber blew apart at 32,000 feet at 5:30 p.m. while returning to nearby Castle Air Force Base—home field for all the country's B-52s—on a routine training flight.

Four of the eight-man crew parachuted safely. Three bodies were recovered. A search was in progress for the fourth.

A Strategic Air Command spokesman at Castle AFB said the grounding of the B-52s was a "routine, precautionary measure" and would be enforced during the investigation of the explosion and crash.

An unidentified motorist stopped his car and threw a coat over Leibovitz to smother the flames.

New Country Club Directors Named At Annual Meeting

A. C. Glandt, Max Roper and Phil Sidles were elected to the board of Directors of the Country Club of Lincoln for three-year terms at the annual stockholders meeting Friday evening.

Hold-over members on the board are Dr. Fritz Teal, Richard O. Joyce, Walter Henrich, Dr. William Carveth, L. R. Ricketts and Jack Stewart.

The officers of the club will be chosen by the directors at their first board meeting this month.

Leif A. Halvorsen, manager of the Country Club, said the club operated at a profit last year and at the present time has a full membership.

A new cocktail lounge will be ready for operation in about a month, Halvorsen said, and the club has recently been redecorated.

The club will hold its annual kick-off dinner-dance Saturday night at 9 p.m.

Adlai Says V.P. Using Race Issue

SALT LAKE CITY (INS)—Democratic presidential hopeful Adlai Stevenson charged Friday night Vice President Richard Nixon is seeking "to exploit the critical and sensitive issue of our race relations for political ends."

Stevenson spoke at a $56-a-plate (for '56) dinner in Salt Lake City. The talk was his first rebuttal since the vice president's Lincoln Day speech in New York City.

Stevenson said there was even "greater irony" in the fact that Nixon spoke in the celebration of the memory of Abraham Lincoln. He said:

"The party of Lincoln could lay claim to the gratitude of our Negro citizens but the party of Nixon cannot when he callously violates the cherished independence of the Supreme Court by (claiming) that its historic desegregation decision was handed down by a Republican chief justice, and goes on to applaud what 'we Republicans have done.'"

Stevenson said it was not the only "astonishing" statement "of this young man of such easy verbal virtue." The 1952 Democratic presidential candidate added:

"He even says the Republicans 'abolished racial segregation in the armed forces' when the order was issued years before they came into office."

Ezra Cites 'Obligation' To Farms

DES MOINES (AP)—The government has an obligation to help farmers out of the trouble that "unwise government policies of the past have put them in," Secretary of Agriculture Benson said Friday night.

But he said he "cannot and will not" suggest measures such as a return to 90 per cent of parity support prices that "can only get them in deeper."

In remarks for the National Farm Institute here, Benson said the administration's proposed new farm program would provide relief this year from the current farm price squeeze, if Congress passes it in time.

The secretary said the administration has been moving "aggressively and soundly" to help hog producers, has negotiated sale of 40 million pounds of beef to Israel to aid "our distressed fed cattle situation" and that other programs are being undertaken to strengthen crop prices.

He said surpluses are the nation's No. 1 farm problem today and warned that they must be disposed of to give the farmer any long-range help.

'Unwise'

"Now I don't want to be misunderstood," Benson told his audience of more than 500 at a dinner meeting of the institute. "Government does have an obligation to help farmers out of trouble that I think unwise government policies of the past have put them in."

But it would be the height of demagoguery if I were to suggest measures that can only get them in deeper. That I cannot do. That I will not do."

Benson's address was delivered in this major corn-hog state where a new farm group, the National Farm Organization (NFO), was formed last fall in opposition to Benson's flexible price support policies. The organization urges a return to 90 per cent of parity.

Benson said the administration's proposed farm program, with its soil bank and conservation reserve features, was designed to strike a blow at surpluses.

"Time is short. This broadened farm program can and must be available to farmers in 1956. There is urgent need for speed because you're already making your planting plans—plans that cannot easily be changed after the weather breaks and spring work is under way."

Air Force Tanker Slides Into Airport

NEW YORK (INS)—An Air Force B-29 tanker plane was damaged in an emergency landing Friday at New York's Idlewild Airport when the plane was forced to come down because of icing conditions.

Idlewild was at an emergency alert as the plane, converted to a gas tanker, slid along on its belly after its main landing gear collapsed on the runway. The plane damage was reported as "normal." None of the crew of eight members and eight passengers was injured.

A spokesman at Idlewild said the plane crew reported the windshield was iced up and asked to be brought in by instruments.

Midland Acquires 1611 Printing Of King James Bible

Lincoln Star Special

FREMONT, Neb. — Four epistles from the 1611 issue of the King James, or Authorized Version, of the Bible have been added to the Midland College Library of Biblical Literature.

The rare leaves, now 345 years old, are printings of Romans, First Corinthians, Second Corinthians, and Galatians. They are in good condition and are in a hard-cover binding.

Dr. Edith P. Stickney, librarian called the rare printing the "treasure" of Midland's Library of Biblical Literature. The collection contains more than 600 books, including several rare printings of the Bible and other volumes on the Bible.

They are on display at the college library.

The 1611 issue of the Bible was printed in London following a directive by King James for a new translation of the Bible. Few copies were printed, and leaves from one of the original printings are rarities prized highly by collectors.

Omaha Meat Eaters Turn Bright Red

OMAHA (AP)—A compound added to hamburger sold at an Omaha market caused 35 to 40 persons in about 20 families to turn bright red, City-County Health Director Edwin Lhman said Friday.

The irritation, although not serious, made the victims exceeding uncomfortable. Dr. Lyman said the compound was supplied by a Chicago company. Its use has been stopped.

Dr. Lyman explained that the compound contained Vitamin C which helps meat retain a "good color" and prevents "darkening." Another additive was niacin, one of the Vitamin B's used to prevent pellagra, a skin disease.

One victim of the meat said she felt like she had been "standing on my head too long."

Biggest Atom Smasher Assigned To Colleges

... Will Be World's Most Powerful

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Atomic Energy Commission announced late Friday that a group of Midwest universities have been authorized to design and build the most powerful atom-smasher in the world.

The move, coupled with a secondary project intended to assure still more powerful machines in the future, is designed to make doubly certain that Russia's reported lead in this field will be short-lived.

The commission's agreement is with the Midwestern Universities Research Assn., headed by President Frederick Hoyde of Purdue University and including representatives of the University of Chicago, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Northwestern University, Notre Dame, Ohio State, Purdue, Washington University of St. Louis, and Iowa State and Michigan State colleges will also join in the project.

Most Powerful

The commission said: "It is hoped that the Midwestern University scientists will develop a machine that will be the finest and most powerful in the world at the time of its completion, and the accelerator will aid in maintaining U. S. leadership in nuclear and high energy physics."

Rear Adm. H. G. Rickover, chief of the Navy nuclear branch, said in January that the Russians are reported getting ready to start operation this year of the world's most powerful "atom-smasher" — a ten-billion-volt machine that the U. S. does not better until 1959.

The commission said the six-billion-volt "bevatron" at the University of California radiation laboratory is "the most powerful particle accelerator known to exist today," and added:

"A U. S. machine (the "synchrotron"), which will produce particles with energies of about thirty billion electron volts, will be the largest in the world when completed."

Tax Assessments—

Market Value Percentage May Be Guide

The State Tax Commissioner's office is suggesting assessors use 70 per cent of market value as a "guide in determining the value of property for tax assessments." These values would be cut in half under the 50 per cent assessment law, making for assessment at about 35 per cent of market value.

The suggestion is contained in proposed rules the tax commissioner's office has drawn up for assessors.

It is geared to a "basic value" bill passed by the last Nebraska Legislature.

Hearing Set

There will be a public hearing on the proposed rules Tuesday. Assistant Tax Commissioner Wilber Houtchens said 70 per cent of market value would serve as a "measuring stick" to determine whether appraisals under the "basic value" law were approximately correct.

Under the "basic value" law, assessors determine property value by taking into account earning capacity of the property, location, reproduction cost and other factors.

Real estate in Nebraska is being assessed at about 70 per cent of market value, Houtchens said, and if that figure is used as a yardstick for all property "all assessed values would not be disturbed."

pleted at the Brookhaven National Laboratory in about 1960.

More Advanced

"The machine to be designed by the M.U.R.A. is expected to be even more advanced."

The secondary project authorizes the Argonne National Laboratory to design a particle accelerator that would "permit earliest possible completion," and to continue "basic studies" in the field.

Dr. Walter H. Zinn, director of Argonne and one of the founders of atomic science, resigned early this week because the main project was to be assigned to M.U.R.A. instead of the government laboratory.

Mrs. Gillespie Entering Race For Congress

OMAHA (P)—Mabel Gillespie of Omaha announced Friday she will seek election to Congress from the Second District on the Democratic ticket.

Mrs. Gillespie served 10 years as a Democratic member of the Nebraska Legislature prior to the change to a unicameral system. She had been considering entry into the wide-open Second District Congressional District race for several weeks. Rep. Jackson B. Chase (R-Nebr.) is not a candidate for re-election.

Visits Truman

Mrs. Gillespie announced her decision following a visit to former President Harry S. Truman in Kansas City this week. She said the former president feels that candidates with confidence in themselves win and "confidence is one thing of which I have plenty."

In addition to her 10 years in the Legislature between 1925 and 1935 Mrs. Gillespie served as a director of the Eastern Nebraska Public Power District from 1934 to 1946. She was nominated for Congress in 1944 and was a delegate to the Democratic National Convention in 1940 where she served as a member of the platform committee.

New Trial Ordered In Suit Involving Spill From Horse

A damage suit involving injuries allegedly suffered by an Omaha man when thrown from a horse was sent back to District Court for a new trial.

The State Supreme Court ruled Friday that the jury which returned a verdict for Jocelyn Schlottman Baty was not properly instructed.

Collides With Car

The evidence was to the effect that the horse, after acting "a little high," left the trail, went over a hill and onto a golf course and finally into a street where it collided with a car, throwing the rider onto the top of another car.

The Supreme Court noted:

"As a general rule a livestock keeper who lets a horse for hire impliedly promises or warrants that the horse is suitable for the purpose for which it is let, and he is liable for injuries resulting from the viciousness or dangerous propensities of the horse if he had knowledge, or in the exercise of reasonable care, should have had knowledge."

On the other hand, the court said, the rider should dismount "if a person in the exercise of ordinary care would do so under the circumstances."

Parking Trouble, Bub?

Jack Lofink, 60, of 5810 Randolph, suffered a wrenched shoulder and his car, shown above, wound up in a driveway sideways at 2424 No. 63rd as the result of a two-car collision.

Driver of the other car was Don E. Young, 18, of 1326 No. 25, who was uninjured. The accident occurred at 63rd and Huntington. (Star Photo.)

Appraisals For Highline Site Set In Court

A Lancaster County Court appraisal board has set damages at a total of $22,325 on six tracts of land involved in a condemnation action by Loup River Public Power District, which plans to build a high-voltage power line south and east of Lincoln.

The appraisal was ordered by the court in connection with the action "in the public interest brought by the power district, which has headquarters in Columbus."

Damages to two tracts of land owned by Edward M. O'Shea and others were appraised at $75 and $14,000. Appraisals on four other tracts were DuTeau Chevrolet Co., $1,000; Mr. and Mrs. Herm F. Behrens, $2,400; Mr. and Mrs. Mat H. Loibl, $1,600; and Mr. and Mrs. John Arres and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hite, $3,250.

The appraisal was for condemnation damages, but not for future damages resulting to fences and crops from construction or later entry on the land.

Compensation for one tract was settled out of court, and appraisal of two other tracts have been continued.

Condemnation proceedings against 12 other tracts are pending in court.

Appraisers were Don P. Harrington, C. M. Pierson, and O. D. Johnson.

Dundy Court Suit Dismissal Upheld By Supreme Court

Dundy County District Court's dismissal of the suit of the Powell Implement Co. against Alvin Edwards for $1,664 allegedly still due, with interest, on a sale was upheld Friday by the state Supreme Court.

The record showed Edwards to have paid $520 before the suit was started.

The court declared a loan made under the Installment Loan Law in excess of $1,000, at an interest rate of more than nine per cent per annum, is void.

Wittson Claims No Present Plans To Leave Omaha

BILOXI, Miss. (P)—Dr. Cecil Wittson, Nebraska mental health director, said Friday he has "been approached concerning a position down here but I have no definite plans at present regarding leaving Omaha."

He did not say what the position is.

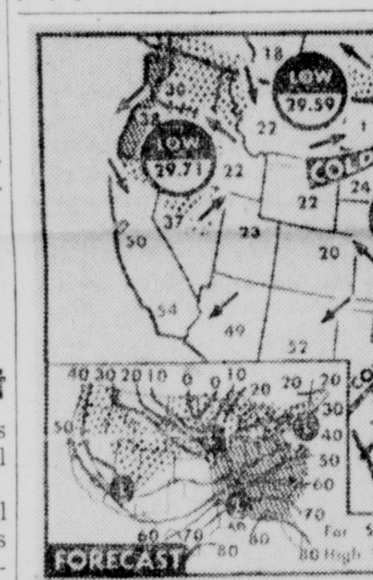

This apparently puts an end to speculation Dr. Wittson, currently might be considering a post with the Southern Regional Mental Health Council.

Dr. Wittson talked with mental health officials in Atlanta earlier this week and was in Biloxi Friday to participate in a panel on mental health.

Farmer's Supplies Taken As He Serves On Jury

Marvin K. Burcham reported to the Sheriff's office that a 1939 auto motor and radiator, a tractor motor block, 50 gallons of gas and about 100 gallons of tractor fuel are missing from his farm several miles north and west of Lincoln.

Burcham said the items were apparently taken sometime during the two weeks he was serving on the Lancaster District Court jury panel.

Precipitation Likely In Many Areas

A great portion of the nation will have precipitation Saturday except for the upper Missouri Valley and in the Southwest from the southern Plains west to southern California. It will be a little warmer along the middle Atlantic coast and in the Northwest; it will continue warm in Florida and Georgia, and turn colder in the area from southern Missouri to southern Texas. Higbee Named To New Position At Reformatory

D. T. Higbee of Beatrice will take over his new duties Monday as associate superintendent of the Nebraska Men's Reformatory in charge of classification and treatment.

Appointment of Higbee, former assistant superintendent and acting superintendent of the Beatrice State Home, to the new post was announced Friday by Supt. Robert Nichols.

The Reformatory has not previously had such an officer, Nichols said, although most penal institutions do.

Higbee will be in charge of classifying newly-admitted inmates, determining custody needed and the type of work program, treatment and discipline appropriate for the prisoners. Higbee served as acting superintendent of the Beatrice Home from August to December last year.

He is 47, married and has a daughter, Jacqueline, who is a sophomore at the University of Nebraska. Higbee has worked for the state since March 11, 1931, when he was appointed day sergeant at the Reformatory. He later was promoted to captain of the guards and subsequently to assistant superintendent.

In August, 1951, he transferred to Beatrice as assistant superintendent. He turned down the idea of becoming superintendent following the resignation last August of Supt. James L. Irwin but served as acting superintendent until M. E. Wyant, business manager, was promoted to the post in December. Higbee indicated he preferred penal work.

Nichols said he regarded himself as "very fortunate" to obtain the services of "a man with Higbee's ability and experience."

The Small Economy Size

Since Mayor Clark Jeary's departure last Tuesday for the annual conference of mayors in Washington, D.C., the reins of the city have been handled by City Council Vice Chairman Pat Ash.

Ash has always gone at city business with enthusiasm and when called upon to do so, accepts the duties of mayor in the same spirit. It is only speaking well of Ash to say that he seems to get more enjoyment out of his city job than probably any other elected official. None of the Council looks at his job as drudgery but with most of them it is more a matter of something that has to be done which they have willingly taken on.

One thing about Ash which has always been an interesting point is his size. The councilman is not a large man and many people who question his ability as a public servant frequently are heard to say "he is no heavyweight." They mean by this, of course, that he is not a top-choice candidate, but where this idea exists, it stems more from the fact that he is a little smaller than average size than it does from his performance record. Ash is and has been a top-notch public servant.

The situation is something like the trim man in the middle of a beefy football line—it's hard to convince the spectators that he can handle the chores involved. But every now and then a comparatively little guy makes the All-American. The Hall of Fame is not composed entirely of physical giants.

A Better Credit Arrangement

Farm managers and credit men exchanged views on the current state of Nebraska agriculture here at mid-week. They were not optimistic.

They accepted the cost-price squeeze as something that would be with us indefinitely. They foresaw an exodus of farmers, in event of drought conditions this year, ranging from the most conservative 15 or 20 per cent to 40 per cent. To them it appeared urgent that improved farm credit be devised to stave off what could be a serious economic reversal.

It was a dark picture—a kind that should make all Nebraska pause. If there is a sense of detachment over declining agriculture fortunes the managers and credit men did a yeoman job of dispelling it.

The warnings, however, must needs be softened by the realization that the darkest predictions are based on a second year of drought—something that hasn't happened yet.

Pending nature's answer to that, the conference dwelt realistically on the need for a better credit service. The signs are plain that the Benson administration acted too impulsively in shrinking the federal farm credit services, just as it has dealt too abruptly with the rest of the agricultural readjustment problem. The vast and complicated agricultural machine cannot make overnight, drastic changes free from serious economic dislocations. In terms of such the exodus of beaten farmers is quickly manifest. But the second reaction to that is the dangerous strain that is placed on the credit facilities of the region. If Mr. Benson thought he was acting in behalf of the government and of local credit agencies in starting a retirement from the field he overlooked the government's proper role as supplier of secondary reserve, the sort that does not frustrate the normal operations of private credit, but stands ready to save the borrower and the credit institution from hardship in times of demonstrated need. Drought or no drought, any condition that threatens to remove from 15 to 40 per cent of the farmers is unthinkable and unjustifiable.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

Now, for a look through a microscope at greatness. In Washington late Thursday, INS Correspondent Ruth Montgomery wrote that a highly placed administration source said President Eisenhower was planning to veto the controversial gas bill. Well and good. The veto put in its appearance Friday. The wonder was not that Mr. Eisenhower decided to veto this bill but that it took so much time to make up his mind to perform his clear, plain duty.

The controversial gas bill is no legislative Johnny-Come-Lately. A similar measure was vetoed by former President Truman near the close of his term. The bill vetoed by Mr. Eisenhower actually passed the House not at the current session of the 84th Congress but on July 28, 1955, months ago. The vote in the House was 209 to 203. Then it lay in cold storage throughout all of August, September, the fall months, and with resumption of Congress after its recess through January and the early days of February while the strategy was being developed for passage in the Senate. There could be no change in the bill which would send it back to the House. Yet Mr. Eisenhower, the little lady wrote, in reaching the decision to veto the gas bill, was well aware of the danger he faces in having other major parts of his legislative program "scuttled by irate congressional leaders of both political parties." Just how stupid does Correspondent Montgomery think the average newspaper reader is? In her exclusive story out of Washington, the President was fighting a great battle—what she said was one of the toughest decisions Ike has had to face as President. It could not be plainer than the nose on a man's face that a little more knowledge of this bill he has vetoed—a little more aggressiveness—something of the leadership the administration has undertaken to exercise in farm legislation—would have made any veto at this time wholly unnecessary. When the veto message was forthcoming, we assumed that the President in well-chosen language would set forth fully the reasons he thinks the controversial gas bill is bad legislation. Amazingly he commended its basic principle—deplored lack of public protection and circumstances of passage.

We assume the little lady writing out of Washington concluded that a glib public was incapable of straight thinking. So she wrote Ike "is particularly worried about the congressmen in marginal districts who voted reluctantly for the bill in the belief that Ike espoused it, and whose vote conceivably could cost their re-election if he vetoes it." If ever there was a choice tidbit of bunk in the news columns, there it is. This is a fine time for the President to be awakening to the fact that congressmen in some marginal districts reluctantly voted for the bill in the belief that the President espoused it. More from Correspondent Montgomery: "This is one of the toughest decisions Ike has had to face as President. He knows how angry the Democratic leaders of both houses—Speaker Sam Rayburn and Sen. Lyndon Johnson, who come from gas-producing Texas—will be. They have the power to block his other bills."

So far as Lyndon Johnson is concerned, his role in the Democratic Congress as the Senate leader has reflected no great credit upon him—so nuts to him! And Speaker Sam Rayburn both in the Tideland oil battle and in this latest controversial gas bill has not added to his stature as the leader of the Democratic party. It does not seem unreasonable to expect that Congress might have other legislation than that designed for the special benefit of Texans. It would appear that Texas oil interests did pretty well through the Tideland legislation, a measure which was both advocated and signed by Ike.

The President and his staff had since July 1955 to study the merits of this controversial gas bill. They had notice then of the strong likelihood the White House would have to pass judgment. Contrast this performance to Secretary Benson's appearance before a Senate subcommittee on agriculture to whom members he gave notice they could anticipate a presidential veto if rigid price supports were written into the farm bill. And then last Tuesday night Secretary Benson, speaking at a Lincoln Day gathering in St. Paul, Minnesota, could with complete assurance tell his audience that if rigid price supports were piled upon the administration's program of a soil bank, the Chief Executive should and would exercise his veto. Too bad someone in the official family in between last July and passage of the bill in the Senate could not give the American public the cheering, comforting assurance if this controversial gas bill received senatorial approval, the President should and would use his veto. Of such is greatness!

Gardner Warns Of Missile Lag

WASHINGTON — In testimony so electrifying it stunned congressmen, but so secret only the bare details can be told, missiles expert Trevor Gardner charged that the Defense Department has failed to follow up vital scientific discoveries that could revolutionize air warfare. He warned fervently that the Russians may be pursuing these scientific concepts, thus gaining a military advantage that could spell disaster for the United States.

Gardner has just resigned as assistant air force secretary in protest against "the lagging research program." He was promptly summoned behind closed doors by the House Military Appropriations subcommittee to explain his stand. For three hours, he talked frankly about the internal conflicts that are holding back military research. Here are highlights that can be safely told:

1. Gardner revealed we have broken through the scientific barrier of new propulsion ideas and aerodynamic concepts that hold a "tremendous promise." These could boost the range, altitude and speed of our planes and missiles, he said—if we are willing to take the financial risk. Yet, for economy reasons, the Defense Department's civilian command has refused to go ahead.

2. He charged bluntly that our military planners "are underestimating the Russians." Intelligence reports from behind the Iron Curtain, he claimed, indicate that Soviet scientists are progressing faster on guided missile research than we have credited them.

3. He warned that our defenses against enemy attack have been crippled for economy's sake. The minimum needs, outlined in the famous Kilian report, cannot be met under the present Air Force budget, he charged.

4. Gardner objected vigorously to the Defense Department's priority system, which puts equal emphasis on the intercontinental ballistic missile and the medium-range guided-missile. He warned this might mean the Russians get the ICBM first.

5. He charged that the total Air Force budget had been dangerously slashed. The Air Force would need $4 billion more than has been budgeted for fiscal year 1957, he estimated. He urged an increase of $316,000,000 in the research budget for 1957.

Gardner insisted there was nothing personal in his charges. He still counted Secretary of Defense Wilson and Secretary of the Air Force his friends. But he took sharp issue with their judgment. They believe in an orderly, step-by-step research program, he said, whereas he believes in following up scientific break-throughs with an all-out effort.

Gardner charged that Wilson's approach "takes a lot longer and may eventually cost more money." He warned that the research and development program, affecting the security of the country, can't be run "the way you build automobiles."

"Our most precious asset is time," Gardner declared. "I can very well be wrong about the need for more research and development, but I don't think I am. On the other hand, they (Wilson and Quarles) could be wrong. I would rather see me proven wrong than see them proven wrong, because there is no prize for second place."

DORIS FLEESON

Adlai's Western Sweep A Success

EN ROUTE TO WASHINGTON—The British writer-wit Saki once had one of his characters say that no really provident woman lunches with her husband if she hopes to burst upon him as a revelation at dinner.

In a sense, this is Adlai Stevenson's campaign problem as shown in his western tour. He lunched brilliantly with the voters in 1952, drawing to him many who were doubtful or even previously inclined toward a change with General Eisenhower.

Stevenson polled 27,314,992 votes in 1952 which is the largest popular vote up to then ever cast for a winning or losing presidential candidate except once. In 1936 when Franklin D. Roosevelt lost only Maine and Vermont he polled 61,000 more votes than Stevenson.

Eisenhower won with 33,936,252. This is only three million more than half the total vote cast. But it was so well distributed, it gave him an electoral landslide.

ARCH DONOVAN

In Step With The Sower

What's in a haircut? Only a dollar and two-bits, or one dollar more than we paid as youngsters. Both Robert Simmons of the Supreme Court and the Sower will agree on this.

We have reached the age where they only trim the fringe and leave the top alone.

The charge, however, is the same as for high school and university youths on whose coiffure they spend many times as much time. Attorney General C. S. Beck, who also has only the fringe line, sees more in it than the mere monetary value.

At a pardon board meeting at the Reformatory this week, C. S. espied an applicant with a "duck-tail" cut. He inquired of the youth whether he had ever seen an All-American football player or major league baseball star with such a hair trim. He was answered in the negative.

As the youth was leaving the room, Beck remarked to his fellow members, yet loud enough for the youth to hear:

"I never saw anyone with a 'duck-tail' who was not a juvenile delinquent or well on the way to being one."

The board continued to examine the last two applicants.

As the board completed its interviews and prepared to go into executive session, Richard Meisner, chief probation officer, inquired if they could see one more inmate.

"This is the quickest job of rehabilitation that I have ever witnessed in any institution," he explained.

He returned with the youth who had been sporting a "duck-tail." He was wearing a real man's haircut which he had obtained while the other applicants were being heard.

Your surmise is correct. The youth obtained a parole and Dick will see that he watches his haircuts in the future.

There is nothing hesitant about Adlai's will to win the presidency. He is conscious of the great problems of the times and he thinks too little is being done to meet them. What he really believes, though he has not yet brought himself to hammer on it publicly, is that Eisenhower is a weak president and that Republicans want it that way. Stevenson's shakedown cruise, all this being said and the civil rights problem thrown in, has been on the whole a success. He has helped to raise funds in important states. He has "met the folks" and lent an ear to their troubles. Generally his speeches have gone over better with his immediate audiences than they appeared on television. Reporters like him.

Except on the civil rights issue, which he would have confronted sooner or later anyway, he has lost nothing he had and in all conversation he is conceded the present best spokesman of the Democratic party.

State employees pick up many interesting bits of information in their daily routine, which while not being earth-shattering at least keep them awake.

Miss Louise Nixon, secretary of the State Library Commission, was delving into the history of the "Pony Express" in Nebraska.

"Now I know where they got the idea," she exclaimed. "It originated in Pony Express days." Interested staff members inquired what she was talking about.

"Why, singing commercials," from the Western Union birthdays greeting to today's TV programs, they all went to the same source."

She then read how a saddlery firm in St. Joseph, Mo., first had the idea in Pony Express days and daily changed the rhyming showcards in their window in an effort to increase sale of their wares. She even quoted from one which read:

"If a good saddle you would find, One that's just suited to your mind, You need not go to St. Louis go, For you can get one in St. Joe."

"There's the granddaddy of them all," Louise gleefully explained.

E. Albin Larson, secretary of the Normal Board, would not let a mere librarian get the best of him when the teachers colleges employ so many with half of the alphabet after their names, signifying degrees.

Back in 1903, we had some interesting experiences, our records show, pointed out.

"The Legislature had just appropriated $50,000 for a second normal school to join Peru," he said. "There were 15 towns hoping to be the seat of the new college and the board visited them all, listening to offers to the state to locate the school there."

"After the inspection, the board, which the Legislature had given authority to make the selection, started discussions. There were 111 ballots taken before four members could agree on one city, and that was Kearney."

Larson said that his study of heads of departments received $900 a year and their assistants $800. It would be a low IQ indeed, that would not sniff at such wages for any kind of work today.

SHEPHERDS AT THE BACK DOOR

Stories From The Life Of Jesus

them, but the shepherd who had spoken held up his staff.

"Wait. Only one question we must ask you. Has a Child just been born in this place?"

Joseph drew in his breath, alarmed. Was something wrong, he wondered? Perhaps they had broken a law in sheltering in a stable? No one ever knew what queer laws there might be in these days, between the fat old Emperor in Rome and the ugly King Herod in Jerusalem.

Carefully, Joseph said, "Why do you ask, shepherd? Why is it your business to know if a Child is born here?"

"Don't be afraid of us, man," said the shepherd. "We are friends."

"Well, then," said Joseph. "Yes. A Child has been born here."

"Only a little while ago?" asked the shepherd.

"Yes. In the last two hours."

All the bearded shepherds turned and looked at each other with excitement, and one of them whispered:

"It is true, then."

The shepherd who had spoken before laid a hand on Joseph's shoulder. "Tell me—is it a Boy that is born?"

"It is."

"And tell me, did you put the Baby to sleep in a manger?"

"Yes," answered Joseph. "There was no cradle, you see. The town is so crowded, and there was nowhere else I could take my lady except to this poor stable . . ."

"Then God be praised!" murmured the shepherd, and the others nodded.

"Listen, man," said the one with the lantern. "We five men have just seen a marvelous sight. An unbelievable thing. And it has to do with you!"

"Listen to us," said another. "We were all out on the hillsides tonight, watching over our sheep, mind our own business. The night was clear, air cool, stars bright, everything going along just as usual. We were sitting talking, when suddenly Jonas here interrupted us, and pointed at the sky."

"That I did," said Jonas. "There was a great big bright light in the sky, and it was shaped like an angel bigger than the world. And I heard a voice . . ."

"We all saw the light," declared the first man. "And we all heard the voice from the sky."

"What did the voice say?" asked Joseph eagerly.

"It told us not to be afraid."

"Yes," said Joseph, "the angels always say that first. And then?"

"And then it said it brought us great news. The Savior of the world was being born. I remember the words. How can I ever forget them? The angel said, 'For this day is born to you a Savior who is Christ the Lord.'"

"Christ the Lord," whispered Joseph.

"Yes, friend. That's what the voice said. It told us the Child was being born right here in this town and that we would find him wrapped in swaddling clothes and lying in a manger."

Another shepherd pushed himself forward.

"You can never imagine what happened then," he broke in excitedly. "The whole heaven seemed to open up. The curtain of stars in the sky flew open, and we saw a host of angels that filled the sky, and they were all singing at the top of their voices . . ."

"And do you know what they were singing?" asked Jonas. "They sang: 'Glory to God in the highest and on earth peace . . .'"

And then the shepherds seemed to lose their tongues. The sound of their own story seemed to quiet them. They were strong, out-of-doors men, not the kind who usually talk of babies and God and of angels in the skies. Suddenly they felt that they must seem foolish.

"Of course," said their leader. "We can't expect you to believe all this."

Then his eyes flashed open, and he looked straight at Joseph. "But it is true," he said. "I saw it. I heard it."

Joseph took his hand. "I believe you," he said.

Then they hurried to tell him how they had left their fat-tailed sheep and run into Bethlehem. Of everyone left on the streets in that midnight hour they had asked questions: Where could they find the new-born Baby? And someone had sent them to the stable of the inn.

The shepherds' tale warmed Joseph's heart. He had been looking for an angel to come to him, some sign that the Son of God was born. But the sign had come to others, which was better. These men, panting and out of breath and sweaty, strong and humble, had seen the gates of heaven open. They had heard singing from on high, the heavens rejoicing at the birth of Mary's Child. Plain poor working men of the fields were the first to come and visit the new-born Jesus.

Joseph threw back the door to let them in, and received them with open arms. One by one on tip-toe the shepherds followed him and he led them straight to the manger. They looked down and then knelt beside the sleeping Jesus.

Soon they were gone, back to their sheep on the hillsides. Joseph, still awake, kept watch over Mary and the Child. In his mind's ear he could hear the countless hosts of heaven singing a message not only for the shepherds, but for all who were ever to live in God's world:

"Peace on earth to men of good will."

A Public Trust

Curtis, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: It is time for the people to know how many U.S. senators received large campaign contributions from the gas and oil companies. We should also like to know how many of these recipients voted against that gas bill. What we have seen, it appears to me, is Democratic leadership and Republican leadership working a deal to cover everything up.

No senator has a right to vote for any selfish interest. The only men qualified for that high office are those who are willing to represent the people even though it means certain defeat at the next election. Or is a public office a public trust?

CHARLES R. HERRICK

Spirit Of The Patriot

Riverton, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: It is enough to cause every citizen of the nation to bow his head in sorrow, reading of passage of the Harris Gas Bill.

It is disclosed that it costs between $25,000 and $50,000 to make the race for a congressional seat. Therefore the ordinary citizen could not become a candidate for those offices unless sponsored by rich friends or wealthy corporations. Surely the nation has fallen to a low level if this be the case. The fact that a man may be wise in affairs of state, a man of high integrity and patriotism would avail him nothing if he were poor. A candidate thus sponsored would appreciate favors and reciprocate.

Republican leaders have the last week held meetings for the purpose of honoring and eulogizing the memory of Abraham Lincoln. Yet if Lincoln were here today, a candidate for office, he could not meet qualifications unless supplied with campaign funds. Neither would Republican leaders honor him with portfolio in the President's cabinet, for Lincoln was nearly a bankrupt.

If only the rich and powerful are preferred for office, what becomes of the cherished tradition that any poor boy may become President of the nation? It was Robert Morris who replied to the emissary of King George: "Poor man as I am, the king of England is not rich enough to buy me." It would be appropriate to pray that the spirit of those illustrious patriots may fall upon their erring posterity.

GEORGE J. MARSHALL

Sanctity Of Home

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Three families have been ordered out into the street. These families are not housed in sub-minimum standard apartments, but are happily housed in maximum standard apartments and want to stay put.

Is the sanctity of the home being violated and people denied the right to live where they want to? Are property owners being denied their inalienable rights? The basic rights of property owners are — ownership and enjoyment of property — not only the right but the obligation to the upkeep and improvement of their property — and the right and duty to put their property to its highest and best use.

The courts have decided that any action denying these rights is not only unconstitutional but arbitrary, capricious, unreasonable and condemns property without due compensation.

A prominent citizen, hearing of this matter, writes me as follows: "The whole problem is cause for deepest concern. Who gets the axe next? I feel cold steel on the back of my neck. One cannot see any valid reason for this attitude. Are these evicted families to go out and buy houses in the new developments? What are they trying to do?"

REV. W. L. HADSELL

Editor's Note: The editor has no knowledge of this case, and cannot answer the questions posed by the writer.

Loophole Twins

Upland, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Nixon and Ike claim to have lifted us out of the awful predicament of a world war to an unconditional surrender. Ike's passionate TV message to the satellite slaves for hope was nullified when 150,000 were transferred to Indochina. And then Ike and Dulles agreed not to bring up the satellite question.

These are a few achievements Nixon failed to mention—Ike's own baby, Dixon-Yates, cancellation of prosecution of the spoiled Canadian wheat, and the segregation decision which Nixon claimed credit for. The Supreme Court decided the offshore oil belonged to all the states, but what did the administration do about this? There was Ike's guarantee of 100 per cent parity to farmers at Boston. He and Benson are now making his word of no value.

Farm Managers Elect Lowenstein Head

Agriculture Objectives Are Listed

John Lowenstein of Hastings was elected president of the Nebraska Society of Farm Managers and Appraisers at the closing session of its annual meeting Friday at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture.

He succeeds LeVerne Gingrich of Omaha. Irving McKinley of Omaha was elected vice president and Dr. Philip Henderson, University agricultural economist, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Paul Fowler of Holdrege was elected to the board of directors. Hold-over directors are Carl Swanson of Kearney and Lowell Ehlers of Omaha. Sixty-five persons attended the meeting.

Six Point Plan

Earlier Dr. Everett E. Peterson, University of Nebraska agricultural economist, suggested a six point program of public policy to redirect national farm policy.

Dr. Peterson's public policy objectives for agriculture were:

- (1) Encourage production shifts according to consumer demands and comparative production advantage rather than "freezing" past production patterns;
- (2) Reappraise needs for reserves of food and feed in light of the possibility of a nuclear weapon war and of the growing human and livestock population;
- (3) Insure that every American has an adequate diet;

- (4) Maintain full employment and economic growth to provide an expanding market for farm products, and job opportunities for farm people moving to non-farm jobs;
- (5) Provide more vocational training, job-opportunity information, and financial assistance to farm families now in problem areas or on low income units;
- (6) Improve availability of credit to enable young farm families to acquire sufficient productive resources for efficient production and an income or family living comparable to non-farm occupations.

Sees Good Business

Dr. Peterson predicted generally good business conditions for 1956 but said Nebraska farmers can expect a continuation of the price-cost squeeze which began in 1940, was postponed briefly by the Korean War, and which has been tightening since 1952.

Another University agricultural economist, T. S. Thorfinson, reported that a study just recently completed indicates that irrigation in central Nebraska during the 1955 crop season was both a first rate insurance against drought and a profitable investment.

A study of 20 farms showed that irrigated corn ranged from 60 to 87 bushels per acre and averaged 75 bushels. This was about 39 bushels per acre higher than dry-land corn yields in the same area under normal weather conditions during the 1946-50 period. In 1955, dry-land corn in the area yielded 0 to 10 bushels. This represents a margin of 28 bushels per acre above the normal.

Other Friday speakers were Dr. Elvin Frolik, associate director of the Agricultural Experiment Station, who described some of the research work being done to improve crop varieties through radiations; Dr. O. J. Webster, research agronomist of the University, who discussed improvements in grain and forage sorghum varieties; and R. J. Graham, agricultural experiment station editor, who reviewed University agricultural research work now in progress.

OMAHA (AP)—Creighton University is changing a long established custom which has caused some consternation among students.

In the past all diplomas were printed in latin and some students couldn't read them. Registrar Jack N. Williams said that beginning in June this year, the diplomas will be in English.

Dawson OKs Farm Product Ad Program

OMAHA (AP)—Dawson County Friday became the second "pilot" county to stamp its approval on Gov. Victor Anderson's Farm Study Committee's meat advertising program.

Livestock feeders and meat producers in Dawson County were recorded as voting a 59 per cent majority favoring the program submitted by Gov. Anderson.

Last week Cuming County livestock feeders voted 65 per cent in favor of the promotion program and in Nebraska City, a straw vote indicated Otoe County farmers favored the plan.

Seventy three of the 84 attending the Nebraska City meeting expressed interest in the idea and said they favored it. No straw vote was taken at an earlier meeting at Syracuse.

"This is not a political expediency," said Gov. Anderson. "Everyone in Nebraska—whether they are engaged in business or industry—should be concerned with the economy of the farmer."

"Storage is not a market," he went on. "We're delaying the time when we will have an even greater farm problem. I do not believe the government is the answer to the farm problem."

"The program we would like to submit to you is a 'self-do' plan whereby you finance and have the final say as to what you want done, not the government," Anderson said.

Senate Debate Over Veto Is Hot

... Neuberger Jumps Gun On Release

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's veto of the natural gas bill stirred up debate in the Senate Friday even before the formal release of his message. Several senators took it as a signal the President will run for a second term.

The flurry started when Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore) read a news dispatch containing word of the veto in advance of its scheduled release time.

He tore an Associated Press dispatch from a news ticker in the Senate cloakroom and read it at 1:35 p.m. The dispatch carried a caption embargoing any use of it before 2 o'clock.

Queried by the Associated Press as to why he "broke the confidentiality release," Neuberger said he had not noticed the "hold for release" caution.

He Apologizes

Later Neuberger apologized, saying he broke the release by "complete inadvertence."

In his premature announcement, Neuberger said "I think the President of the United States has done the right thing" and that the American people will support his action.

Sen. Ellender (D-La) told the Senate "I brand it (the veto) as purely political" and as evidence that Eisenhower will seek another White House term.

"I have now changed my mind," Ellender said of his previous prediction that Eisenhower would not run.

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt) debated with Sen. Hennings (D-Mo) whether the veto had upset "one of the major planks" in the Senate Democratic Policy Committee's program. Aiken predicted "the American people will be genuinely grateful" for the veto.

Hennings Replies

Hennings popped to his feet and said "I too take satisfaction" from the veto, but that he wanted to call Aiken's attention that "five of the nine members of the Policy Committee voted against the bill."

Sen. Daniel (D-Tex), who fought the bill on the floor, told a reporter "I didn't like the veto."

"The President made a great mistake," said the Texan, "in mixing charges of improper influence on the part of one independent producer out of 8,000 with the merits of the bill."

Bill Looks Dead

Chairman Priest (D-Tenn) of the House Commerce Committee which originally reported out the gas bill indicated he thinks the bill is dead for this session.

The House sponsor, Rep. Harris (D-Ark), said he didn't see how the veto can be interpreted as anything

-Loup Irrigation- Court Says Original Date Must Stand ... Limits Acreage

The Irrigation Department cannot extend the original date for application of water to land in an irrigation project, the State Supreme Court ruled Friday.

The ruling limits the North Loup River Public Power and Irrigation District to acreage to which it had applied water by October, 1944, the original cut-off date.

The Supreme Court decision followed a Loup River Public Power District appeal from an Irrigation Department ruling extending the time for the District to complete its application of water to October, 1957.

The Irrigation District's project map proposed irrigation of about 33,000 acres, but water had been applied to only about two-thirds of that acreage by the 1944 termination date.

More Water Applied

Water has been applied to some of the remaining acreage since then. Applications for supplemental appropriations to take care of the additional acreage are pending in the Irrigation Department.

The question of whether the Power District has a right to charge for water going on acres brought under irrigation since 1944 is involved in a suit pending in U.S. District Court here.

Possible Effects

Statehouse officials were studying effects the Supreme Court decision might have on past time extensions in other projects.

The North Loup District has headquarters at Ord and the Loup River Power District has headquarters at Columbus.

The irrigation project is upstream from the Power District's works.

Permits issued to the two districts when they began operation put a practical ceiling of 38,000 acres on the area which could be watered by the North Loup District.

An irrigation official said this was because:

1. The Power District's permit says that by exercising its water rights, the Loup District shall not curtail the right of the North Loup District to divert 38,000 acre-feet annually for irrigation.

2. There is a limit of one foot per acre annually on the Irrigation District's water appropriation.

The State Supreme Court has held that this shall mean one foot per acre at the point of diversion, since that is the only place where the water can be metered.

The Court in its decision Friday held that an appropriator is not permitted to retain an interest in waters which are not put to a beneficial use "within a reasonable time."

The Month, Nebraska—Or Both?

THERE MUST be something about February that inspires everyone to travel—or maybe it's just February in Nebraska that turns the trick—Anyhow, we discovered that Mr. and Mrs. J. Meehan left on Thursday evening for New York City from where they will sail for Europe. Mr. and Mrs. Meehan plan to spend two months touring Europe.

ing on to Palm Springs where they will complete their holiday.

BUT fortunately for Lincoln—and us—all who go must eventually return home—and among our homecomers are Mr. and Mrs. Wardner Scott who returned home Thursday evening from New York City where they had been spending the past two weeks—business for Mr. Scott—strictly a pleasure trip for Mrs. Scott.

AND mention of New York reminds us that Mr. and Mrs. Carl Olson also are there, but will be returning home next Tuesday.

HOME again, also, are Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Stephenson who are just back from Atlanta, Ga. While in Atlanta Mr. and Mrs. Stephenson saw the Willis DeVriendts—Mr. and Mrs.—formerly of Lincoln. Miss Diane DeVriendt, as you may already know, is in Lincoln—attending the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta.

TODAY will bring numerous guests from out of town—and their objective is the annual Mortar Board Founders' Day luncheon at the University Club.

Among those who will be here for the festivities are Mrs. John Elliott, Scottsbluff; Mrs. Charles Elwood Pankonin, Louisville; Mrs. Richard Gillin, Los Angeles; Mrs. Bruce H. Davis, Grand Island and Mrs. Gilbert Karges, St. Edward.

SOMEONE told us that Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Strain have a house guest—their grandson, Christopher (Chris—for short) John of Schuyler. Young Chris was accompanied to Lincoln by his mother, Mrs. George John (JoAnne Strain) who spent a few days with her parents before returning home.

Dr. and Mrs. John plan to come to Lincoln within a few days to escort their son back home.

HEAR that Mrs. Jack May and her son, Albert, will be leaving on Monday to return to their home in Mt. Sterling, Ky., after a several weeks visit with Mrs.

May's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Held.

THIS is the morning that Miss Sandra Saylor will pay post-nuptial courtesy to Mrs. Robert Serr (the former Catherine Hodder) when she entertains at a morning coffee at her home. The recent bride will be presented with a miscellaneous shower.

TONIGHT is dinner dance night for the members of the Saturday Night Club who also will have guests at the party—Included on the guest list will be Mrs. L. E. Swanson, Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. North, Mr. and Mrs. George Samson of Omaha; Mr. and Mrs. George Holyoke, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Spilchal and Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Meier.

The Brides' Book Says:

Miss Joan Meints, whose wedding will be an event of March 4, was honored recently at a miscellaneous shower for which Mrs. Loren Andrews and Mrs. Frederick Wilson were hostesses to 12 guests at the home of Mrs. Wilson. The evening hours were spent informally with games.

Miss Meints will become the bride of Russell Heidbrink at a ceremony to be solemnized at St. Peter's Lutheran Church at Wy-

Nebraskan Heads KMAG Intelligence

Word has been received that Col. Richard S. Smith, former Lincoln man, has been promoted from G-2 Senior Intelligence Advisor of the first ROK Army, to senior G-2 Intelligence Advisor of the Korean Military Advisory Group, with headquarters in Seoul.

Prior to his assignment in Korea, Col. Smith, the son of Mrs. Milo Krusen of Lincoln, had served in the office of Chief of Staff G-2 Intelligence with the mission of inspecting activities of all major headquarters in the United States and overseas, including the functions of military attaches at overseas posts.

Before his Intelligence School assignment Col. Smith was Inspector General of U.S. forces in Austria, and also had been commanding officer of the Military Science department of the Omaha high schools.

Col. Smith will be joined in Japan in the autumn by Mrs. Smith and their children, Gary and Sandra, but since there is the possibility that a new assignment will bring the family back to the States and Washington, D.C. in 1957, the family has maintained its home in Arlington, Va.

Col. Smith is a graduate of the University of Nebraska where he is a member of Acacia fraternity.

NU Dames Entertain Guests

For their first meeting of the new semester, the members of the University of Dames entertained a group of guests Thursday evening at the Foods and Nutrition Building at the College of Agriculture. Many of the guests will become new members of the Dames, who are wives of University of Nebraska students, at a special initiation ceremony and tea to be held Sunday afternoon from 2 o'clock to 4 o'clock.

Mrs. John Brandenburg, vice president of the Dames, will conduct the initiation, and presiding at the tea table will be Mrs. William Orwig. In charge of tea arrangements are Mrs. Bob Dick and Mrs. Jack Coffman.

Dames and their guests Thursday evening included (seated from the left) Mrs. Douglas Carlson and Mrs. Milton Holmgren, both guests, Mrs. Stan Bloemendaal, Mrs. William G. Hartline, also a guest, Mrs. Max

A report will be given by the chapter president, Mrs. Homer Hahn, and assisting hostesses for the 12:30 o'clock luncheon will be Mrs. Kenneth Holland and Mrs. J. W. Waits.

ASME To Have Ladies Night

The Lincoln chapter of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers will hold its annual ladies' night on Monday evening at the Lincoln Hotel. The 6:30 o'clock smorgasbord supper will be followed by a program which will include a showing of colored slides of a tour of England, France, Belgium, Germany, Switzerland and Italy by Prof. Ralph Mariette of the Civil Engineering department, University of Nebraska, who toured the European continent last summer. Another feature of the program will be the showing of Dean W. V. Lambert's movies of his tour of Russia.

Parents Group To Hear Talk

The parents group of Meadow Lane School will hold a meeting at 3:30 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon at the school. Guest speaker will be Dr. Stanley Good, director of the Child Guidance Center, who will speak on the activities of the center.

We Hear That

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Sharrick have returned home after a month's vacation in the southwestern states. At Houston, Tex., the Sharricks were the guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Bernbaum. The travelers spent a week at Dallas, and en route home visited friends at Wichita, Kan.

Colonial Tea Of DAR

Deborah Avery Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will entertain at its annual Colonial Tea next Wednesday afternoon at the Governor's Mansion, between the hours of 2 o'clock and 4 o'clock.

Traditionally held on Washington's Birthday, the tea will feature a musical program arranged by Louis C. Trzcinski of the University of Nebraska School of Music, and Miss Ona Wagner, director of adult education in the Lincoln Schools, will speak on "Education for Naturalization."

Miss Wagner will introduce two former students of Lincoln naturalization classes who will discuss their course of studies.

Officers of St. Leger Cowley Chapter, DAR, in Lincoln have been invited to the tea and special guests will be Mrs. Joseph C. Strain of Hebron, state DAR regent, her secretary, Mrs. Warren Chase of Alexandria, and Mrs. Harold Zinnecker of David City, state chaplain.

Bodies Of 2 AF Officers Found

FORSAN, Tex. (INS) — The bodies of two U. S. Air Force officers killed when their T-33 jet trainer crashed and exploded near Forsan were located Friday after a 12-hour search.
The victims were 2nd Lt. Billy Stephens, 23, of Wrightsville, Ga., and 2nd Lt. Texas L. Mains, 23, of Beckett, Wash. Air Force officials said Stephens was an instructor in the trainer and Mains was a student.
The aircraft were stationed at Webb Air Force Base in Big Spring. Searchers had been looking for the wreckage of the plane since early Thursday night when residents of Sterling City reported they saw the craft explode and crash.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Fairbury Jeffs Slow Rockets But Lose Mid-East Tilt, 51-26

Lincoln Star Special
FAIRBURY—The Fairbury Jeffs slowed the Northeast offense to a standstill for two periods here Friday night, but faltered in the last half and the Rockets won the Mid-East Conference scrap, 51-26.

The Jeffs stalled their way to a 4-4 first quarter tie with Rudy Stoehr and Wayne Hester each notching a bucket for the Rockets' only tallies in the period.

Stoehr and Hester connected from the corners over the Fairbury defense to boost Northeast to a 15-10 halftime lead and the Jeffs were forced to come out of the stall after the intermission.

With play loosened up the Rockets registered 19 points during the third period to pull safely ahead. Hester sparked the rally with three straight field goals.

Scott Tippin, Fairbury's 5-8 guard, hit a field goal midway in the final period to end a seven-minute drought streak during which the Jeffs didn't score a point.

Hester netted 22 points on nine field goals and 4-4 at the charity stripe to lead Northeast scorers. Stoehr scored nine points.

Art Ackerman was high for Fairbury with 14 points, including eight free throws.

Local college and prep teams of various winter sports face a busy schedule today, with much of the action slated in Lincoln.

Basketball, track gymnastics, swimming and wrestling are included in today's fare.

The University of Nebraska's basketball team hosts Iowa State in one of the top events. The Cyclones are pressing Kansas State for the Big Seven lead and need the victory over the Huskers to stay in contention.

The Husker track team enters the powerful Oklahoma track machine in an indoor meet, and Nebraska's swim and gym teams are also in action.

The swimmers will meet Colorado at Boulder, and the gymnasts are competing in the Northwest gym championships in Minneapolis.

Two state championships in Nebraska prep circles will be decided. The finals of the state wrestling meet will be held in Omaha, and state swimming championships will be staged in the Coliseum pool.

The three Capital City basketball teams will all meet Omaha teams.

Lincoln High plays at Omaha South in the spotlighted prep basketball game of the weekend. University High hosts rugged Omaha Holy Name and Southeast has the welcome mat out for invading Omaha Westside.

Three-Way Tie In Texas Open

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Tommy Bolt, regular winner and noted club thrower; Don Finsterwald, just getting into the money circle; and Don Palmer, a real freshman to the golf tour tied for first place at the halfway point in the $20,000 Texas Open Friday. Each had 137.

Mike Fetichick, who took the lead in the first round Thursday with a nine-under-par 63, soared with the wind Friday, finishing with a 78 and falling well down the list at 141.

Bolt, known commonly as "Thunder" and "Terrible Tempered" and publicized as golf's most gifted club thrower and smasher, wasn't satisfied with his putting but his two-under-par 70 over the sun-baked Ft. Sam Houston course that stretches 6,566 yards pushed him into a top spot.

Hastings Crushes Chadron, 107-73

CHADRON—Hastings virtually clinched the NCC basketball crown here Friday night by whipping Chadron, 107-73.

The Broncos now have a 10-1 record, with three games left on their schedule. They play Chadron again tonight.

Chadron now has a 10-3 record, and finishes its slate against Hastings.

Hilly Beck led the Hastings attack. He scored 24 points collecting 20 in the first half. He saw only limited duty after intermission as Hastings coasted to victory.

Larry Lytle and Dale Hendrickson shared scoring honors for Chadron with 15.

Wants Two London Bouts

Lighthavy Champion Archie Moore listens to the tick of the round timer after a brisk workout at a gym in San Francisco for his non-title fight next Monday with Howard King. Moore told British promoter Jack Solomons, in a trans-Atlantic telephone conversation that he's willing to fight two bouts for him in London. He wants to fight a heavyweight on March 13 and then remain in England to take on Yolande Pompey, the originally scheduled lightweight title foe, in June. (AP Wirephoto.)

Malmo Wins, 74-48

WAHOO—Malmo smashed Luther Academy here Friday night, 74-48, with Gerald Volin hitting 27 points. Dave Hulk and Noble Swanson led Luther Academy with 16 points each.

Seward Concordia Hits Osceola, 51-47

OSCEOLA—Seward Concordia built a 15-point lead in the third quarter and held off an Osceola rally to win, 51-47, here Friday night.

The win gave Concordia a 13-4 season record. Loel Haak scored 15 and Bob Peterson got 14 for the winners; Jan Grossnicklaus got 18 for Osceola.

Seward Concordia 51, Osceola 47.

South Leads In Wrestling Tournament

South leads in the wrestling tournament, with the Vikings stepping on the gas in the last period to run away.

Blum was shackled with four fouls in the first half but was still enough of a scoring threat to keep Springfield in the running with his hooks and turn shots. Despite a 13-point effort by the 6-foot 5-inch Quathamier in the third period, Waverly led only 50-42 with one quarter to play.

Without Blum and Neitzel, Springfield had to count on the scoring of Don Joern and he alone wasn't able to cope with the team play of the Vikes.

Waverly was never behind in the game, and the score was tied only once—at 2-2 when Blum hit a hook shot.

Snyder shot the Vikes into an 11-2 lead and they controlled the game from then on, although Springfield pulled close at 14-12.

Joern's 16 points led Springfield. Blum had 14 points.

Two technical fouls were charged, one against the Springfield team and one against Blum.

The win gave Waverly an unbeaten season.

NCAA Considers Two Kansas Towns

N O R M A N, Okla. (AP)—Both Wichita and Hutchinson, Kan., are under consideration as the site for a first-round NCAA basketball playoff between the Southwest Conference and Border Conference champions, and two area at-large teams, it was learned Friday night.

Reaves Peters of Kansas City, chairman of the NCAA's western selection committee, said the site, a date and the at-large participants "will be decided on in about a week when the committee meets by telephone."

Other committee members are coaches Clarence Iba of Tulsa, Bill Henderson of Baylor, Stan Watts of BYU and Tippy Dye of Washington.

"We want a neutral court for all four teams," Peters said.

He said Oklahoma City University "has an excellent chance" to be one of the at-large teams because of its "fine record."

Hunsaker Leads In Win

PLATTSMOUTH—Bill Hunsaker's 26-point contribution to University High's attack Friday night jarred Plattsouth and the Tutors walked to a 72-54 victory.

Plattsouth—sparked by Bob

Beverage, 6-3 junior—led at the end of the first period, 18-15, but the Tutors tallied 18 points in the second quarter to pull ahead at the half.

Jim Hoge, Uni High's much improved floor man, hit a jump shot midway in the second period to hand the Tutors a 23-22 lead which Plattsouth never overcame.

Hunsaker sparked for the Tutors throughout the game. He hit eight points in the final quarter which ended Plattsouth's hopes for an upset.

University High led, 49-44 at the end of three quarters, but the Tutors' Marv Bauer, Hoge and Hunsaker organized a shattering fast break which rolled up 23 points in the final period to silence Plattsouth's chances.

Huge was runnerup to Hunsaker's 26 point output. He scored 20. Bauer was also in the double figures with 12.

Don Huebner led Plattsouth with 15 points. Ed Egenberger tallied 12.

Holup Breaks Record, Helps Defeat Furman

WASHINGTON (AP)—Joe Holup broke his own school record Friday night by scoring 49 points for George Washington in its 107-87 victory over Furman.

Darrell Floyd, the nation's leading scorer, sank 36 for Furman but this was strictly Holup's night. There's no telling how many points he would have made if he hadn't fouled out with 5 minutes remaining.

At one stretch, the Swoyersville, Pa., senior poured in 21 consecutive free throws without a miss. For the game, he was 25 for 30 from the foul line and 12 for 19 from the floor.

Seward Defeats Crete, Wins East Central 10 Title

SEWARD—Coach Ralph Bowmaster's Seward Bluejays won the Central Ten East Division title here Friday night by defeating Crete, 58-41.

The Jays used a torrid third quarter attack to take the crown. Crete and Seward were tied, 24-24, at the half with the home five outscoring Crete, 22-4, in the third canto for a 46-28 margin.

Early Wesleyan Margin Good For 71-59 Victory

By RON SPEER
Star Sports Staff Member

Wesleyan caught the invading Midland Warriors off guard Friday night, jumped to a quick lead which lasted throughout the NCC battle and won its fifth conference game, 71-59.

The Plainsmen grabbed an 8-2 margin with four minutes gone and the cold Warriors never caught up.

Glenn Reed, Jack Wood, Lowell Johnson and Foster McGuire all scored in double figures, and Midland didn't know where to apply the stopper with shots connecting from the corners, keyhole and from way out.

Wesleyan maintained a seven to nine point lead during the first half, and upped the margin after the intermission, leading by 18 points at various times.

Midland did a better job of rebounding than the winners, but several times missed shot after shot during the last period.

Marshall Farley, Midland's 6-3 center, was the big gun for the visitors. He controlled the boards and tallied 17 points, notching six fielders.

Ron Donahue and Bob Rump, Midland's sawed-off guards, triggered the Warriors into a late rally which narrowed the spread from 18 points with six minutes left to 10 shortly before the game ended.

But Wesleyan was never in serious trouble after the first 12 minutes, when the Warriors trailed, 15-18.

Wood and McGuire, veterans on the Plainsmen club, teamed up to crush Midland's chances for victory.

Wood—using his two-handed set shot—collected eight points during the first half and McGuire equalled his output in the last half. McGuire's hook shot was especially effective from close range, and pulled the Midland defense in, allowing Johnson, Wood and Reed to connect from the outside.

Reed was the leading scorer for the Plainsmen with 13 points. Wood and McGuire each tallied 12 and Johnson hit 10.

Don Cochran, sophomore from Atchison, Kan., sparked during his brief stint late in the game. He registered six points by driving through the Midland team.

The Plainsmen outscored Midland from the field, 31-21, but trailed badly in the free throw department. The Warriors hit 17 of 23 charity attempts. Wesleyan managed but nine of 17 tries.

Coach Irv Peterson's Wesleyan team now has a 5-7 conference record. All five of the victories have been in the last seven games.

Wesleyan's last home game is scheduled for next Tuesday against the Peru Bobcats. The Plainsmen will end the season at Hastings next Friday night.

Louisville Tips Dayton, 59-56

LOUISVILLE, Ky., (AP)—Phil Rollins, back in harness after a long layoff, led Louisville, the nation's No. 4 college basketball power to a 59-56 victory over No. 2 Dayton Friday night, the Cardinals' second over the Flyers.

Rollins, who injured a hand Jan. 11 and returned to action only this week, scored Louisville's last 7 points in a tension-wrapped wind-up.

Dayton had rallied from 11 points behind to tie the score when the steady senior was sent into the game. Louisville had gone more than 6 minutes without scoring.

With the count knotted at 52-52 and 2 minutes to play, Rollins drove under for a goal to ease the pressure Jack McCarthy tied it again for Dayton, but Rollins came right back with a driving layup and was fouled in the process. He made his free throw.

Jim Paxson gave Dayton another chance when he closed the gap to 56-57, but Rollins was equal to the task once more—again with a slashing layup. Dayton could do nothing in the remaining 16 seconds.

Louisville set the early pace, surrendered the lead to Dayton midway in the first half and came back to take a 31-28 halftime edge. The Cards never trailed thereafter, leading by 49-38 at one stage.

'Millionaire' 1 To 2 Favorite

Nashua Makes Debut As Four-Year-Old

By GENE PLOWDEN

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Nashua, the millionaire race horse, makes his debut as a 4-year-old in Saturday's $129,800 Widener Handicap at Hialeah and is 1 to 2 favorite to whip eight others in the mile and a quarter feature.

Nashua will carry top weight of 127 pounds, most of it his regular rider, Eddie Arcaro, and will be giving away from 5 to 22 pounds to his rivals—a band of seasoned campaigners.

Chief opposition to Nashua is expected from the powerful entry of Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Social Outcast and Find, rated 7 to 2 in the early line. Social outcast will carry 121 pounds, including jockey Eric Guerin, while Find goes under 114 pounds, with Ted Atkinson up.

Some observers believe Find will go after Nashua from the start and try to wear down the favorite for one of Social Outcast's stretch runs.

Third choice probably will be Brookmeade Stable's Sailor, under 119 pounds with Willie Hartack, last year's champion jockey, at the irons.

Next comes Hasty House Farm's double entry of Sea O Erin, who likes the mud, and Prince Noor. Hedley Woodhouse, who was second four times in the Widener, will ride Sea O Erin, and John Adams, the bawling grandfather, has the mount on Prince Noor.

El Chama, the Venezuelan champion, is assigned equal weight with Social Outcast of 121 pounds and will be ridden by his regular jockey, Raul Bustamante. Trainer Jack Labelle said Nashua can do anything better than his horse and he is aiming for second money of $20,000.

Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Man of Destiny gets in with 105 pounds, Steve Brooks riding.

A surprise entry was Spring Hill Farm's Jamie K., owned by the International Boxing Club president James D. Norris. Jamie K., will carry 105 pounds, with Logan Batcheller aboard.

Good weather was forecast, with a high of around 75 degrees, and a fast track. It will be partly cloudy with no rain in prospect.

It will be Nashua's first start since Oct. 15, when he won The Jockey Club Gold Cup at Belmont Park, but the big Jay has worked brilliantly, covering a mile and a quarter at Tropical Park in 2:01 4-5 in a Tuesday trial spin.

Nashua limbered up Friday, breezing 4 furlongs at Hialeah in :49 3-5 in a final "blowout." Social O went 3 furlongs in 1:02 breezing and Sailor worked 4 furlongs in :47 and 5 in 1:00 flat while Prince Noor went in :49 2-5.

Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, Nashua's 81-year-old trainer, said his star is as ready as he can be, and if he doesn't win there will be no excuses. Arcaro was to be arrive late today from California to make his first riding appearance in Florida this winter.

A crowd of approximately 35,000 is expected for the feature and post time is 4:15 p.m. (CST). The race will be broadcast and televised nationally by NBC and for the first time in its 19-year-history will be carried on the South American networks.

Fish Limits Upped In '56 Regulations

The modern trend of liberalized fishing rules was evident in recent announcement of the new 1956 Nebraska regulations, the State Game Commission said.

A commission spokesman said most noteworthy of the regulations is the increased bag and possession limits for some of the big game fish.

The crappie limit has been raised to 30 in some Sandhills counties. In the rest of the state it is 15, except at Gavins Point Dam where it is 50. The large limit at the damsite conforms with the South Dakota regulations.

The bullhead limit has been set at 50 for the Sandhills counties and Gavins Point while the rest of the state will have a bag and possession limit of 15.

The spokesman said the trend toward more liberalized regulations will probably continue at research discovers new facts about fishing which can be applied to Nebraska streams.

Information on the growth and reproduction of game fish in Nebraska indicates many previous ideas about fish were wrong, the spokesman said.

150-yard medley relay—1:26.7 by Lincoln High, 1953.
200-yard free style relay—1:43.6 by Omaha Tech, 1938.

The biggest revamping of state high school swimming records in many years may be in the offing today when a talented Lincoln High team shoots for its second straight Nebraska championship at the University of Nebraska pool.

Preliminary heats start at 10 a.m. Finals are scheduled for 1 p.m.

With the team title all but conceded to Lincoln High, attention will be focused on individual battles, the race for second place and possible record-breaking performances.

One record is sure to be set. The medley relay event has been changed from 150 to 200 yards with the addition of a butterfly leg. Other records are likely to be broken if conditions are right.

"Right conditions" mean strong competition for a trio of talented free-styles, two of them from Lincoln and one from Hastings.

Joe Gausana and Larry Converse of Lincoln, and Bill Champlin of Hastings are the free-style aces. Each is capable of breaking an existing free-style record if somebody pushes him.

Gausana, defending state champion in the 50-yard free style, will be gunning for the state record in that event. The state mark is :24.8. Gausana missed in an attempt at the record last year as a sophomore but might lower the standard this time.

Converse is a definite threat to the 100-yard free style record of :56.3, a seven-year-old record. Converse has recorded a 56-second hundred and has been near that mark several times.

Champlin has come close to the 200-yard mark of 2:05.2, set by Omaha Central's Rich Paynter in 1949—the year he also set the 100-yard free style mark. Champlin's best time in competition was a 2:06.6.

The 150-yard individual medley record is another mark in jeopardy. Gausana and Champlin split in two meetings in this event during the season, and both times the event, swum at 120 yards, went in fast times.

Although Lincoln High should win the team title hands down, the battle for second place should be close. Northeast has a good opportunity to give the Capital City one-two finish in the team race. Teams entered are Lincoln High, Northeast, Southeast, Boys Town, Omaha Tech, Creighton Prep, Hastings and Omaha Y.

Kansas State Chooses Lee As Director

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—H. B. (Bebe) Lee, Colorado University basketball coach, was named athletic director for Kansas State College Friday.

Dr. James A. McCain, college president, announced Lee's appointment after it was approved by the Kansas Board of Regents.

Lee is expected to take over his new duties at Manhattan about April 1, succeeding Lawrence (Moon) Mullins, who is taking a similar position at Marquette University.

Lee, 39, has coached at Colorado since 1950. His team shared the Big 7 Conference title in 1954 and was the champion last year.

Dr. McCain said Kansas State considers Lee "superbly qualified for our athletic director. He was the unanimous and enthusiastic choice of the college athletic council. There is every indication that he has to an abundant degree the administrative and leadership ability and the integrity which the position calls for."

Ward Darley, Colorado president, said, "We certainly do regret losing Bebe Lee from the university staff. During his six years with us, win or lose, he has always been a credit to the university."

Before joining the Colorado staff, Lee coached a year at Colorado A&M, three years at Utah State, and was an assistant coach three years at Stanford. While a student at Stanford he played on three Pacific Coast Conference championship teams.

He is married and has three children.

A prediction that Russell (Socks) Walseth, head basketball coach at South Dakota State, will succeed Lee at Colorado was made by John Henry, sportscaster for KOA Radio-TV at Denver.

Walseth was an assistant to Lee for two years before going to South Dakota State.

Fullmer Wins On Split Nod

NEW YORK (AP)—Gene (Cyclone) Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, kept the pressure on sharply conditioned Gil Turner Friday night to win a split decision in a rousing 10-round match at Madison Square Garden. Fullmer weighed 157½, Turner 151½.

The decision hung on a single point in the scoring of Judge Leo Birnbaum who had it 5-5 in rounds, but gave Fullmer a 6-5 edge in points. Referee Petey Della found for Fullmer 5-3-2 but Judge Harold Barnes saw it 6-3-1 for Turner. The Associated Press had Turner out front 6-4.

Actually it was such a close hard-fought scrap that it was a shame either boy had to win it. They had split in two previous meetings and weren't far apart in this one.

Fullmer closed with a rush as Turner finally seemed to fade under the steady bombardment. All three officials gave Fullmer the last round, Birnbaum scoring it a 2-point round for the decision.

Under New York scoring rules, an official judges by rounds, awarding points to the winning fighter in each round the points range from 1 to 4, depending on the margin by which the official feels the man won the round. Birnbaum had all 1-point rounds except the 10th. Point scores are not announced normally unless an official had the fight even in rounds.

George Katz, manager of Turner, was screaming at ringside about "the rawest decision I ever saw". Many of the 3,000 customers who paid about $8,000 to see the nationally televised middleweight bout agreed with Katz. A quick ringside poll of 11 boxing writers showed 5 voting for Turner, 4 for Fullmer and 2 even. Everyone scored the fight real close.

Harry Markson, managing director of the International Boxing Club, said he might try to make a rematch after Katz calmed down.

Game Set-Up Change Urged

OMAHA (AP)—Former Game Commission Chairman Ernie Bihler of Omaha has passed along some suggestions to the Legislative Council subcommittee conducting a hearing here Saturday.

His suggestions to the committee, consisting of Senators George Syas of Omaha, Le Roy Bahensky of Palmer and Norman Otto of Kearney included:

1. Separate the fish and game department from the parks and recreation department.

2. Build a modern game farm to raise pheasants for stocking.

3. Cut down the Game Commission office staff.

4. Make each member of the game commission responsible for a department—keep him in charge of this department for one year.

By shifting to a new department each year, the commissioners would have a better understanding of the problems of all departments.

Text Of Gas Bill Veto Message

WASHINGTON (AP)—Here is the text of President Eisenhower's message vetoing the natural gas bill:

I am unable to approve HR 6645 "To Amend the Natural Gas Act as Amended." This I regret because I am in accord with its basic objectives.

Since the passage of this bill, a body of evidence has accumulated indicating that private persons, apparently representing only a very small segment of a great and vital industry, have been seeking to further their own interests by highly questionable activities. These include efforts I deem to be so arrogant and so much in defiance of acceptable standards of propriety as to risk creating doubt among the American people concerning the integrity of governmental processes.

Legally constituted agencies of government are now engaged in investigating this situation. These investigations cannot be concluded before the expiration of the 10-day period within which the President must act upon the legislation under the Constitution.

I believe I would not be discharging my own duty were I to approve this legislation before the activities in question have been fully investigated by the Congress and the Department of Justice. To do so under such conditions could well create long-term apprehension in the minds of the American people. It would be a disservice both to the people and to their Congress. Accordingly, I return HR 6645 without my approval.

At the same time, I must make quite clear that legislation conforming to the basic objectives of HR 6645 is needed. It is needed because the type of regulation of producers of natural gas which is required under present law will discourage individual initiative and incentive to explore for and develop new sources of supply.

In the long run this will limit supplies of gas, which is contrary not only to the national interest but especially to the interest of consumers.

I feel that any new legislation, in addition to furthering the long-term interest of consumers in plentiful supplies of gas, should include specific language protecting consumers in their right to fair prices.

1 Dead In Illinois Jet Plane Crash

TOWER HILL, Ill. (INS) — At least one flyer was killed Friday when a jet plane crashed in a field near Tower Hill in central Illinois.

State police who first arrived at the scene said they found a crushed body in the wreckage which was buried deep in the ground.

Shelby County authorities said the plane, believed to be a T-33 two-seat jet trainer, may have been the craft that was reported missing at East St. Louis.

The crash occurred during a freezing rain that swept over central Illinois earlier in the day.

India Asks Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—India has asked the United Nations to take up "the question of Antarctica" in the 76-nation General Assembly in the fall.

The United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and other nations have interests in the South Polar Regions.

There was not immediate explanation of India's interest but some reports said the Indians were seeking to avoid an international conflict of interests and claims.

A year-old tot who gulped a can of kerosene Friday was reported much improved at St. Elizabeth Hospital after his stomach was pumped.

The boy, Dennis Nelson, Rt. 1, grabbed up the kerosene which his brother, Richard, 9, was going to use to thaw an outdoor pump. The tot's mother, Mrs. Wilfred Nelson, called for an ambulance.

The can of kerosene had been sitting on the floor in the living room of the home at the time.

No Expansion Planned For Lincoln PO

... Jeary Is Told

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mayor Clark Jeary of Lincoln said Friday he has been assured the government has no plans now to expand its Lincoln Post Office building.

Jeary, told a reporter he has talked with various federal officials about the situation.

Lincoln now has a perpetual lease on the property occupied by its city hall so long as it is used for a municipal purpose. The Post Office building is in the same block.

There has been talk, he said, of constructing a new city-county building in Lincoln.

Jeary said he was interested in knowing whether the government had any expansion plans in mind and might be interested in reacquiring the present city hall property.

He said he was told no consideration has been given to any expansion there.

Jeary is here for the President's Conference of Mayors.

Meet Star Carrier Larry Schraeder

All Lincoln Star customers between 12th and 14th streets and H and K have been receiving perfect service for the last 16 months. The reason is that 16 months ago

Larry Schraeder took over route 611.

Larry is fifteen years old and in the ninth grade at Everett Junior High. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schraeder of 917 Plum.

Larry is currently delivering the Star to 66 very satisfied customers. His pleasing smile and good business principles have won many customers and friends for him.

Son, 16, Admits Shooting Mom Who Was 'Abused'

PAWTUCKET, R.I. — Mrs. Evelyn Harris, 44, was shot dead Friday at her home near Narragansett Park race track. Police Chief Edward F. Parker said a 16-year-old son, Gordon admitted he killed her "because she was sick and being abused and was living a terrible life."

Police said they had ascertained Mrs. Harris did not have a malignant disease. However, they shed no light on the boy's statements that his mother was "abused" and living a "terrible" life.

Parker said a .22 caliber pistol was found on the floor of a station wagon the son was trying to start when a police cruiser blocked his path. Officers took him into custody without resistance.

Mrs. Harris operated a trailer camp with her husband, Frank. They rented trailers as living quarters, and occupied a dwelling beside the camp.

Chief Parker quoted young Harris as having told detectives: "I killed my mother because I loved her so much. She'd been working too hard. She was sick and being abused, and was living a terrible life."

"I figured on killing her for a long time. I figured it would be better for her to be dead than to continue the life she was living."

No charge was placed against the boy immediately.

Neighbors heard three shots but Chief Parker said only two appeared to have struck her, in the back.

The chief said the gun found beside young Harris had been stolen earlier in the day from a rented trailer.

Drunk Drive Fine, Term Is Appealed

A fine of $300, jail sentence of 30 days, and suspension of his drivers license for a full year were assessed against John D. Lauer of 3303 M, in Municipal Court Friday.

The fines and sentence were handed down on Lauer's conviction for second offense drunken driving.

Lauer, who had pleaded innocent, appealed the conviction and was released under $1,000 appearance bond.

The court complaint against Lauer said he was convicted of drunken driving on May 14, 1952, in Saunders County Justice of Peace Court.

There Are Some Days Like That

A 17-year-old youth ran into a pack of troubles with the police department Thursday, and wound up paying for it Friday.

The youth was involved in an accident Thursday and as a result was charged with:

- Failure to yield the right of way.
- No license plates.
- No registration.
- Vehicle in such condition as to endanger life, limb, and property.
- No drivers license.

He was fined a total of $31 after pleading guilty to the charges.

Blacktop Bids On Highway 91 Opened; Totals Near $750,000

The State Highway Department Friday reported apparent low bids totalling approximately three-quarters of a million dollars on the improvement of 33 miles of Neb. 91 in Loup, Garfield, Madison, Platte and Colfax counties.

It is the so-called short line from the Sandhills to the Omaha market which livestock interests have pushed for several years.

Arnold Swanson Co., Hastings, bid $278,790 on the contract to blacktop 13.4 miles between Taylor and Burwell in Loup and Garfield counties.

Dobson Bros. Co., Lincoln, bid $191,835 on similar surfacing for 7.3 miles between Newman Grove and Lindsay in Madison and Platte counties.

The work on 12.9 miles between Humphrey and Leigh in Platte and Colfax counties, with stubs into Creston and Leigh, was divided into three projects.

Lincoln Firm Low

Stewart Construction Co., Lincoln, bid $96,336 on the grading; W. A. Biba Engineering Co., Geneva, bid $119,814 on the culverts; and Hollingsworth Construction Co., Omaha, bid $75,525 on the bridges and guard rail.

The Neb. 91 projects were among those on which bids were opened Thursday. Apparent low bids on Thursday's list totalled $4,211,915, compared to an advance estimate of $4,370,000 by the engineers.

Missouri Valley Construction Co., Grand Island, bid $269,223 on the blacktopping of 11.3 miles of U.S. 83 between Theford and Valentine in Thomas and Cherry counties.

Ramsey Praised By Airport Men; S. R. Gilbert Eyed

The Nebraska Aviation Trades Assn. Friday expressed "deep regret" that Gov. Anderson "was unable to retain the services" of James D. Ramsey, who resigned early this week as State Director of Aeronautics.

The association termed Ramsey an "outstanding man," according to Charles Haeseker of Lincoln, president of the group. He said the association's officers and board of directors held a special meeting to discuss the resignation of Ramsey, who had held the post for more than eight years.

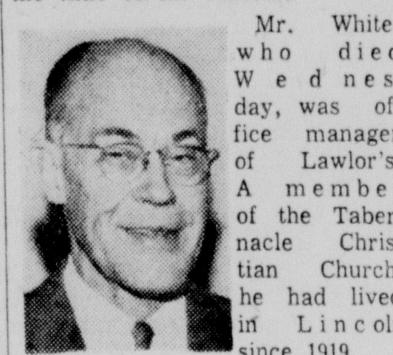

Haeseker said the association went on record as recommending that the governor appoint S. R. Gilbert of Lincoln, airport engineer with the State Aeronautics Department, as acting director until a successor is named.

"The association sincerely hopes," Haeseker said, "that Mr. Ramsey's policies and procedures . . . will be continued."

Most Of Fisher Estate To NWU

George R. Fisher, retired Lancaster County farmer who died Feb. 8, has left his estate to Nebraska Wesleyan University, except for small bequests to four nieces and nephews.

The executor of the estate estimated that the University would receive several thousand dollars, possibly more.

The will filed for probate in Lancaster County Court was dated Sept. 10, 1952. Mr. Fisher's major holding was a farm located near Malcolm.

A Bully

CHICAGO — Municipal Judge Joseph A. Pope fined 140-pound Thomas R. Kyle $50 for assault and admonished him: "You shouldn't pick on a man twice your size."

Testimony showed that Kyle, a truck driver, started a fight with another driver, 230-pound Theodore Wisniewski, over loading dock priority. The big man suffered a neck injury. Kyle wasn't hurt.

Cozad Trucker Failed To Recognize 'Mad Dog' Irvin

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (P)—Leslie Irvin, known as "mad dog" because of the series of murders attributed to him, was mistaken when he said a Cozad, Neb., trucker recognized him during his cross-country flight, the Grand Island Daily Independent learned Friday.

The Independent said it found that Alvor DeVitt, 37, of Cozad was the trucker to whom Irvin referred, but that DeVitt did not know he had met Irvin until he read Irvin's statement in the papers.

After his capture Irvin was quoted as telling police in San Francisco he was "recognized twice, I am sure of—once by a motorist outside Springfield, Mo., and by a truck driver at Cozad, Neb. But I knew he was calling the police so I left in a hurry."

Here, according to De Witt, is what happened:

On Jan. 24 he pulled in to a west side Cozad service station and a well-dressed, soft-spoken man approached him and asked him for a ride. He said he told the man he was driving to Salt Lake and the man was welcome to ride along.

While the truck was being refueled De Witt made a telephone call to a friend.

"During the course of the conversation, I remember a joke we had laughed about concerning an

Hospital Fee Case Quashed By High Court

The state Supreme Court cleared the way for a hearing later on its merits of the fee claim of a Scottsbluff law firm against the West Nebraska Methodist Hospital, also of Scottsbluff.

The firm of Neighbors and Danielson is asking for a fee of $11,815 for services in handling the estate of Marguerite M. Finch, Kimball County woman who died in 1951, leaving the residue of her estate to the hospital.

The attorneys are asking for a fee of 25 per cent of the amount recovered for the hospital, but the hospital contends the fee should not be more than $2,000.

The court Friday quashed the bill of exceptions prepared by counsel for the hospital, on grounds it was not settled and allowed by the trial judge until the 72nd day—two days late—after notice of appeal was filed.

Commenting in a concurring opinion attached to the Supreme Court's ruling Friday, Judge Adolph Wenke said:

"I hope this . . . serves the purpose of warning each member of the Bar of the strictness with which these procedural steps will hereafter be applied and that he not be entrapped thereby."

The hospital is represented in the proceedings by Motherhead, Wright and Simmons of Scottsbluff.

One Survivor Found In Dahl Plane Wreck

HALIFAX, N.S. (P)—A search plane reported Friday it found one survivor and two bodies with a missing DC3 piloted by Harold E. (Whitey) Dahl, aerial soldier-of-fortune.

Its radio report from snowy northern Quebec did not say whether Dahl was the survivor. Names were withheld.

The rescue plane from the Royal Canadian Air Force messaged only that it had taken aboard the survivor and bodies from the wrecked twin-engine plane.

The crashed plane was located 25 miles northwest of Fort Chimo, at the head of Ungava Bay, 800 miles north of the city of Quebec.

Across Strait

The rescue plane landed at Fort Chimo en route to Goose Bay, Labrador, with the survivor.

Dahl and two or more companions left Frobisher Bay on Baffin Island Tuesday on a 3½-hour flight across Hudson Strait to Fort Chimo.

Dahl was at the controls of the plane. It had no radio.

An RCAF Lancaster—one of 14 planes in the search—was the first to sight the wreckage, with a man standing beside it.

Trucking Firms Hearing To Be Resumed Feb. 27

OMAHA (P)—The Federal Court hearing on the labor dispute between Local 554, International Brotherhood of Teamsters and two Nebraska trucking firms will be resumed Feb. 27. The truckers are Clark Bros. and Coffey Transfer.

The National Labor Relations Board has charged the union with inducing work stoppages in an effort to organize employees of the trucking firms.

Union attorney David Weinberg said that a separate case in the same dispute has been moved to Washington.

In this action the union filed a suit against the labor relations board challenging a ruling that three men who went on strike against Coffey could not vote in a company organizational election.
